MAYBE I'LL FORGET YOU THEN

Lyric by GEO J MORIA TY

Music by J. R. SHANNON

Moderato

Be-neth a tree just he and she, They are Just let me know you love me so, Once a-

Talking of the mor-row, The boy must leave, she starts to Gain be-fore we part, dear, 'Cause I'd feel bad if some new grieve, And her heart is filled with sorrow. She said: "I'll lad Ev-er came and stole your heart, dear." "So make a

Copyright MCMXII by Forster Music Publisher Chicago International copyright secured fret, but you'll forget, Dear-ie, that is what you'll vow and tell me now That you will be fond and do."

And as she sighed the boy re-true?"

He stole a kiss, she whis-pered plied: "I might forget, that's true."

this: "Yes, I'll forget, like you?"

CHORUS smoothly

When the roses bloom in winter, When the snowflakes fall in

Maybe I'll forget 3
June, when the sun comes out at midnight. And the moonbeams shine at noon, when the rivers cease their flowing and when four times two makes ten, when joy means sorrow and to day is tomorrow.

Maybe I'll forget you then.