PROFESSIONAL COPY.
Have A Heart

Words by
JACK DRISLANE

Music by
HARRY ARMSTRONG

Moderately

She was just a bashful maiden,
So she told her widowed mother,

He was just a bashful beau;
And he told his widowed dad;

Ev'ry evening 'neath the moonlight,
Introduced them to each other,

Copyright MCMXIII by M.Witmark & Sons
International Copyright Secured
For a stroll they'd go; always talk about the weather,
For their hearts were sad; they caught papa meeting mother,

Words of love seemed to be dead,
Found them talking awfully low,

Till one evening he got courage wised right up to her and said:
She was saying "If that's so:

He was saying "If that's so:"

M.W. & Sons 13107-4
CHORUS

"Have a heart! Have a heart! Can't you try your best to pity me, May be you can find a tender spot, I'm sure you can as well as not. Don't say, "no!" Don't say "go!" Cupid's bound to get you with his dart. I'm sure you need some one a-round like me, So have a heart! Have a heart!" Have a heart!"