I'm Neptune The King Of The Sea.

Words by Robert Todd.

Bass Song.
Key of B♭

Music by Everett J. Evans.

(Also for Baritone. Key of C)

Moderato.

Away from its moorings the good ship glides, As I sleep in my cave in the sea; With her flaunting sails, And her boasting crew, And never a thought of me; For the Copyright MCMXIV by Hamilton S. Gordon.

British Copyright Secured.
sun's a-gleam, And the rippling waves, Allure them over the main; 'Till I spring from the deep, And with one wild sweep, Assume my glorious reign. For I'm Neptune, the king of the sea; oh, ho, Old Neptune, the king of the sea; And the winds and the waves, will make men's graves, While I swing my trident in glee. For I'm Neptune, the king of the sea; ah, ha, Old

Pomposo.

(Spoken.)

Napton, the king of the sea; And I take my toll, When my boughs roll. For I'm Neptune the king of the sea. Ho, Agitato.

ho, Come storm clouds gather here; And roll, oh thunder roll; And lightning flash your blinding light, For cresc.

cen.

do.

Neptune will have his toll, Then rise, my bounding billows,
rise, Your master smites the lee;
For fast in my grip I will hold your ship, For I'm Lord of the Mighty sea. For I'm

(Spoken)
Nep-tune, the king of the sea; oh, ho, Old Nep-tune, the king of the sea; And the winds and the waves, will make men's graves, While I swing my tri-dent in glee.

For I'm Nep-tune, the king of the sea; ah, ha, Old Nep-tune, the king of the sea; And I take my toll, When my bil-lows roll; For I'm Nep-tune the king of the sea.