Happy And Go-Lucky In My Old Kentucky Home

Novelty Fox Trot Song

With Special Arrangement of My Old Kentucky Home for Obligato

By CLARENCE GASKILL

Writer of "Kentucky Blues"

Moderato

I used to have the blues,
Kentucky grass is blue,
But now they've gone a-way,
The cotton fields are white.

I'll tell you all the news,
And I'm a-tellin' you,
I'll be go-in' home to day,
I'll be there tomorrow night.

I've found that roamin' round,
I'm trav'lin' mighty far,
Was never meant for me,
But I don't need no fare,

So that's 'cause a

why I'm home-ward bound side door pull-man car
Back to Dixie.

I'll be happy and go-lucky when I'm down in old Kentucky with the old Kentucky home. It's summer the darkies are old folks way back home. Those roam-in' days are over for mammy's little rover, gay.

When the cows are in the meadows and the chicks are in the corn,
It's then I start to think about the land where I was born. I can hear the darkies singing when the cotton pickin's done,
They don't make lots of money but they sure have fun. On every Sunday morning you can hear the village choir, Their singing is so hot it set the town on fire. When my mammy cooks a chicken dinner gravy runs galore, The pickaninnies wipe their bread on mammy's cabin door.
