A Social in the Parlor.

Words by ARTHUR J. LAMB.

Music by ALFRED SOLMAN.

Moderato.

The lamppost on the cor-ner winked an eye, He gazed at a cou - ple
The lamppost on the cor-ner watched that night, Where one win - dow shone so shy; It looked as tho' they nev-er would say good-bye, The bright; He thought I'd like to know ev' - ry thing's all right, Be Copyright MCMV by Jos. W. Stern & Co.

British Copyright Secured.
English Theatre & Music Hall rights secured.
lamp-post was won-d'ring why!
fore they put out my light!

And there in fix things all right!
When mid-night was near, the

I call on you, There's al-ways some oth-ers too!
youth did ap-pear, And there in the moon-light clear,

He said.'Come to night! I'll fix things all right! Ther'll be but one be-sides we two!' She said.'Love good-night! That so-cials all right! Let's have them all our life-time, dear!' He REFRAIN.

Just a so-cial, in the par-lor, On-ly Cu-pid, you and I, We can play the game of sweet-hearts, It's so easy When you try!
You can woo me, with your kisses, And I'll answer you with sighs,
At a social in the parlor, Making goo-goo eyes! Just a eyes!