She'd popped the question straight to him.
But each night when the stars were bright, for a year he used to call, on a
he was game tho' he once was tame, for he swung into the seat, then he maiden sweet and small, but he made no love at all,

took the maiden sweet, and he jerked her off her feet.

Bashful, gee, as a man could be, when to tell of love he tried, his night winds howled and the coyotes growled, as they left the dust behind, while he'd spin, he'd only grin, when by her side, at on the way to santa fe, their hearts to bind, but last she lost her patience, And so to Pat she cried.

still she kept on singing, For fear he'd change his mind.

CHORUS

Come on, you Cowboy, to old Santa Fe,
Take me away, Swing in that saddle, we'll skedaddle.
Take me, and make me your Missus O'

Day. Sure I'll be your bride, If you'll only ride To old Santa Fe.
