IN ROSE TIME

Words and Music by
EDNA J. ALLEN PHILLIPS.

Tempo di Valse.

When roses bloom the sweet perfume, Fills all the air with gladness, Then all the joys of June, sweet June, Just

When twilight falls, and longing calls, My thoughts to dwell with you,
I dream of days that are to come, Each

British Copyright Secured. Copyright 1922 by Edna J. Allen Phillips. All Rights Reserved.
drive a-way all sadness, 'Till evening

dawn in rosy hue, Each evening comes and then, sweetheart, I long for you, just time another star, To lead us on the

you, The roses seem to whisper way, And bring again love's sweetest dear, That you are fond and true, hour, Life's roses day by day.

CHORUS.

In Rose time, in Rose time, 'Tis then I long to see,

The one dear, whose love cheer, Makes life so sweet to me, In Rose time, at

In Rose Time.
evening, Then longing fills my heart, I wonder, and wonder When you'll return, sweetheart.

In Rose Time 4.